THE TREASURY PORTFOLIO.

The people of the far west, and particularly those who are interested or in any manner benefited by the production of silver, are deeply concerned in regard to the disposition of the Treasury folio. The speculation that is rife concerning the make-up of Mr. Harrison's Cabinet and the possibility that the Treasury department will fall into the hands of some eastern man not friendly to our mining industry, only intensifies the anxiety heretofore felt. There is no one who will question the ability of any of those named for the position. John Sherman is by education and experience eminently qualified to direct our financial affairs, but his appointment to that position would meet with earnest disapproval on the Pacific Slope. The Pacific States and Territories are rapidly increasing in population and wealth. Other stars will soon be placed on the old flag, representing new-born Western States, and in all the Territories west of the Rocky mountains silver mining is carried on to a greater or less extent. It is only natural that this important and flourishing section of our country should expect some consideration at the hands of the incoming Administration. The Treasury portfolio should be given to a western man, and to a friend of silver. The demonetization of silver coin fell with crushing effect upon the West, and for years the great industry that built up and populated the western mountain districts has been paralyzed, business depressed and a scarcity of money strikingly noticeable. The restoration of silver to its par value will bring unexampled prosperity to the far west. Our now neglected mineral fields will hum again with their old time glory, and a general revival of business along the line would speedily follow. This section of the country is at present not a small factor in national politics, and will become more important as time rolls by. Nevada sounded the key note of western opinion when she named Senator John P. Jones for the Treasury Department. He has been the steadfast friend of the silver producer, and a warm advocate of the coinage of that metal, not because he is interested in mining but from an unselfish and honest desire to foster an industry that has been of incalculable importance to the civilized world. With him in the Treasury Department the western man would feel secure in his underground efforts, and the commercial world of the East, North, South and West would soon find that under his able directorship the business interests of the land would prosper.

A Southern journal has made the remarkable discovery that in spite of systematic suppression of the colored vote in ten States the negroes elected Harrison after all. It shows that in New York State alone there are about 25,000 adult male negroes, and that 18,000 is a low estimate of their voting strength on the Republican side. These black citizens, it contends, "defeated the will of the majority of the white citizens of the whole country." Cleveland, it asserts in triumphant tones, was the undoubted choice of the white people, and Mr. Harrison owes his election to the negroes. Nobody can deny that the votes of black citizens are counted as cast not only in New York, but in every Northern State as well. They are only disfranchised in the South. Indeed, in order to equalize the injustice from which they suffer there, every Northern negro would have to vote a dozen times at the polls.

General Schofield's annual report contains a plea for providing our seacoast and frontier line with adequate fortifications. He says that the time and circumstances are peculiarly favorable for entering on this important work. The suggestion deserves serious attention, but considering the fate of previous suggestions to the same effect—notably that of Samuel J. Tilden—it is safe to say that the carrying of it into effect will be left for a Republican Congress.

The vote of California shows that the State has been adding immensely to its population. In 1880 it had 964,694, and now, taking the last vote as an index, it has 1,299,438. This is a gain of 50 per cent. since the last census year. The State has been favored with a heavy Eastern immigration, especially in the southern counties, where speculation in lands has been the most active.

Oregon's tax levy has been fixed as follows: State levy for current expenses, three and seven-tenths of a mill; militia tax, one-fifth of a mill; University, one-tenth of a mill. Total—four mills.

Senator Stanford stated in Los Angeles that he was unqualifiedly opposed to a division of the State, and also said the railroad line to San Diego will not be built immediately.

THE FADING YEAR.

Our Progress During the Last Twelve Months.

Nevada, as a State, has not made the great progress that is apparent in our sister State during the past year, but limited as the growth of our commonwealth has been, the steady, but quiet advancement that has taken place is manifestly more beneficial to our future than the overdone boom work that has taken place in many portions of the Golden State. California has two advantages over Nevada, one is known as sunshine and the other is the fact that it is the "jumping off place." So far as soil is concerned or the agricultural productions of the two States, Nevada can more than hold her own, in fact is far superior to the sea-washed State in nearly every thing, with the exception of its semi-tropical productions. California has been made the great attraction for the Western home seeker, more through the efforts of her own people than anything based upon actual superiority. Great excursions have been planned and brought to a successful issue and thousands of dollars thereby added to the wealth of the State. But has all this rapid advancement, this heavy increase in values been beneficial to our neighbor? There is such a thing as building too fast upon an unwarranted foundation. So far as Nevada is concerned our soil and its products are well known, and we have only to wait patiently until the "sunshine" craze is over and then dead square merit will reap its reward.

So far as Reno is concerned, its advancement has been steady and all the improvement that has taken place has been of a solid, lasting character, demonstrating that the foundation upon which the future prosperity of our town is built, fully justifies the improvement that is everywhere apparent. Even in California towns, those most advantageously located in the warm gold belt of Placer county, and directly effected by the great land boom that has spread over the State, the same progress has not taken place that is noticeable here. The people of Reno enjoy advantages that will sooner or later touch our now thriving town with magical effect. Our surroundings from an agricultural point of view require no comment. In this respect we are beautifully blessed, and the water power that rolls by the town must necessarily contribute its full share to the building up of that prosperity that is certain to come. These advantages are not unknown, but some energy must be displayed on the part of our people to make them attractive to those who come westward in search of just such opportunities. Another line of glistening rails will soon traverse the eastern and southern portion of our State, the C. & C. road will ultimately reach the "City of Angels," the Nevada and California line will be completed, and with such highways tapping the vast productive lands on the American continent, there is no reason why the battle born State should not have a bright and progressive future.

Every effort should be made next season to fully and generally represent to the world our great resources. Eighteen hundred and eighty-eight is rapidly nearing its end, but during the last twelve months many valuable improvements have taken place in Reno, a number of new buildings grace our streets, our population has increased and our progress in every particular has been marked and encouraging. The coming year should be characterized by still greater improvement, and with energy and the hearty co-operation of our enterprising people, Reno will throw off the garb of town and stand forth a full fledged, thriving city.

Fruit Culture.

The acknowledged superiority of Nevada fruits and the ready and rapidly growing market for it, is turning the attention of our land owners to the culture of all the hardy fruits, particularly apples. Inquiry has ascertained the fact that a large acreage of land will be devoted to this purpose within the next two or three years. A number of young orchards have been planted in Washoe county during the past year all of which are doing well. It is only a question of time when fruit shipments from the Sagebrush State will be of daily occurrence and the Golden State will be our market. Grapes, as well as apples, ought to thrive and yield prolifically. The weather in the foothills of California is almost as severe as it is in Washoe county, and yet grapes do well in the snow belt along the western slope of the Sierras. A little capital expended in experimental fruit raising in Nevada will bring a just reward.

Herman Wieland, the well-known brewer, and President of the Wieland Brewing Company, of San Francisco died at 9:35 Friday morning of Bright's disease of the kidneys.

While Senator Beck's condition is improved, it is not probable that he will be in his seat in the Senate during this session. He contemplates passing the Winter in Aiken, S. C.

David McClure, ex-State Senator, and a prominent lawyer of San Francisco, died at his home there yesterday morning. His death was due to apoplexy.

It is asserted that a break has occurred in the Republican ranks which will result in the failure of Indiana to secure a place in the Cabinet.

The ladies complain that the gentlemen make the sidewalks sickening by expectorating to a nauseating extent, and hope the men will step to the side of the walk and expectorate in the street.

Last week 220 tons of ore was taken from the Confidence mine, and sent to mill, assaying $33, and 500 tons from the Confidence mine, assaying 32 75. These mines adjoin each other, and the ore seems to be of the same character.

STATE FAIR.

The Date for 1899—Fixed Events.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the State Board of Agriculture was held yesterday, at which President Winters and Directors Evans, White and Powning were present. It was decided that the meeting of 1899 should be held during the week commencing Sept. 28th and ending October 3d. The following fixed events were ordered advertised at once:

FIXED EVENTS, 1899, 1900 AND 1901.

Silver State Stake—Three-quarter mile dash. For two-year-olds, to be run at the meeting of the State Agricultural Society, at Reno, in 1899. Fifty dollars entrance, half forfeit, $250 added. First horse to receive added money and 50 per cent. of the stake money. Second horse to receive 35 per cent. of the stake money; third horse to receive 15 per cent. of the stake money. Declaration $10, April 1st; $15, August 1st. Entries close January 1, 1899.

Nevada Stake—Mile and a quarter dash. For 3-year-olds, foals of 1886, to be run at the meeting of the State Agricultural Society, at Reno, in 1899. One hundred dollars entrance, half forfeit, $400 added. First horse to receive the added money and 50 per cent. of the stake; 2d horse to receive 50 per cent. of the stake money; 3d horse to save entrance. Declaration April 1st $10; declaration August 1st $40. Entries to close Jan 1, 1899.

Additions to Reno.

The additions that have been made to Reno within the past two years show for themselves how much benefit they have been to our town. They have stimulated enterprise, encouraged building and inculcated in the minds of men of moderate means the necessity of building homes for themselves. Those who are interested in these additions have not been exacting, have been moderate in values and have indeed offered the most liberal inducements to those who desired to build upon their additions. Reno would not have the same number of new and handsome residences that are now noticeable but for the energy and liberality of those who have thus interested themselves in the progress of the town.

"Ladies' Night."

The members of the Reno Guard Gymnasium have announced an athletic entertainment and hop to take place at their hall next Saturday evening, the 15th inst. This organization has been in existence about a year and is doing a good work for the young men of Reno in supplying a place of recreation and amusement to those who do not care to frequent the ordinary places of public resort. The entertainment they are now preparing is their first effort in that line, and it will be interesting to note their progress in gymnastics. Good music has been engaged and the admission has been fixed at fifty cents—ladies free. The JOURNAL guarantees a pleasant time for those who attend.

Death of Mrs. John Hymers.

Mrs. John Hymers died yesterday morning of cancer on the liver, after several months of intense suffering. She leaves a husband and one daughter to mourn her death. Mrs. Hymers came out from New York about seven months ago on a second-class ticket, and for some reason the railroad conductor refused to recognize her ticket and she was put off the train at a little station this side of Ogden, where she took a severe cold, and has never been a well woman since.

Trade in Reno.

A canvass of the business houses in Reno brought forth the fact that trade during the present year had been good and that each passing year showed an increase in business. At present nearly all our tradesmen are complaining of the scarcity of money and a falling off in trade, but this is of very recent origin and they look for a healthy revival after the holidays have passed.

K. of P. Election.

At a meeting of Amity Lodge No. 8, K. of P., Friday evening, the following named officers were elected to serve the ensuing term: C. C. D. Williams; V. C., G. B. Hymers; P., L. J. Cohn; M. of E., J. F. Aitken; M. of E., C. W. Jones; K. of R. & S., W. L. Bechtel; M. at A. C. A. Jones; Med. Ex., Dr. A. Dawson; Trustee, C. A. Jones.

High Priced Colts.

Nevada horsemen are taking a lively interest in the production of fast stock and it will not be long at the present rate before our State will be the home of "flying horse-flesh." Theodore Winters has two promising colts that came out victorious in the recent races in California, one of which, it is said, he refused $18,000 for.

The Reno Schools.

The public schools of Reno are largely attended as are also our private institutions of learning. Our free schools are diligently looked after and the corps of teachers employed could not be better. The scholars are making rapid progress and show the beneficial effect of the careful training they receive.

HIS LAST RAISE.

How He Robbed a Friend.

He was a long, lank, relic of by-gone days, his usefulness, if, indeed, he ever possessed any, was over, and his time was passed in the bar-room, relating, whenever an opportunity occurred, some tale of the palmy days of the past, when the great west was yielding up her golden treasure. One evening when those assembled were discussing the "good old days" and relating events that came under their observation, telling of the "big raises" they had made, "Lanky" occupied his accustomed seat and about the time that conversation seemed to lag, and the last yarn had been "spun" he abruptly made his presence known by saying: "Boys you never heard how I made my last raise, did you?" Being answered in the negative, he said: "When I came to Montana in '64 I was busted and some-how or other I couldn't get work and what was worse couldn't raise a 'stake' to buy into any kind of claims that at that time were 'panning out' like a mint. I loafed around town for some time waiting for something to turn up, but it never did and one day I got acquainted with a feller who had made a stake and was getting ready to go back East. Our introduction ripened into friendship and in a confidential manner he told me that he had a fortune consisting of $25,000 in gold and $50,000 in greenbacks and that he intended to take it with him instead of trusting it to the stages that were being 'held up' on every road, and I made up my mind that that was about the best show I would ever have of making a 'stake' in a hurry and I made preparations to take him in as I understood the country and knew a trail that intercepted the road my rich east-bound friend would take and on the morning he was to leave I stole a horse, saddle and blanket and started out. I had only been gone a short time when the horse was missed and they were not long in determining who took it and a posse started in pursuit. Of course they caught me at the junction of the road and trail. Tar was not as common in those days as it is now, but the kind of justice that was meted out wouldn't stand any of the modern appeal business and I was unceremoniously hung to a tree at the junction. After suspending me the party took off on the trail for town. Fortunately for me the limb I was hanging to 'bent' under my weight until I could just touch the ground with my toes and thereby keep the noose from strangling me. The posse was hardly out of sight when my victim came along and cut me down. Of course I told him a lie about the matter but I didn't feel strong enough to tackle him that day and concluded to defer operations until the next morning. He settled for my bill at the place where we stopped that night and we left. When I thought the road was clear I told him to throw up his hands and I robbed him. I had the dead drop on him and he had to give in. But what do you think that he wanted me to do? D—d if he didn't want me to take his greenbacks at par when they were only worth 45 cents on the dollar." "Did you do it?" asked one of the party. "Not very much; I made him give me his note for the balance. But somehow, boys, I have always been kind of delicate about demanding payment of that note."

Man Killed.

At about 4:45 yesterday afternoon a light engine struck and killed a man at 25-mile hill, near Jackman's ranch, a mile and a half west of Laughton's Springs. The engine was coming to Reno to help up No. 2, and the boys say the usual signals were given, and no blame is attached to York, the engineer. Supt. Whitford sent up the "Swing" crew to bring down the remains, and Coroner Brown was also duly notified, and took charge of the body last night.

To Be Taken Down.

The old telegraph line that runs along the wagon road between Reno and Virginia City, is to be taken down and will henceforth follow the V. & T. road, arrangements are now being made in Virginia for this purpose but the new line will probably not be strung up before next Spring.

Justice Court.

John Murphy, arrested on a charge of drunkenness, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to ten days in the county jail by Judge Young yesterday. An old man arrested for the same offense was discharged on his promise to leave Reno. These are the only arrests so far this month.

Tuscarora Schools.

The public schools of Tuscarora have been closed for want of funds. It is a disgrace to a flourishing mining camp as Tuscarora that its school fund should be exhausted at this season of the year, and it should wipe out the stain by levying a special school tax.

Daddy Nolan.

Daddy Nolan drew a good house last evening. The play is much above the average of the stock Irish dramas and kept the audience in the best of humor. It is full of strong situations and played by an excellent company.

The Prohibition vote in Nevada, so far as heard from, is as follows by the counties: Washoe 13; Humboldt 11; Douglas 6; Elko 6; Eureka 2; Esmeralda 2; Ormsby 1; Storey 1; Total 42.

Thomas Gracey, Storey's County Auditor and Recorder-elect, who has suffered a very severe attack of pneumonia, is rapidly recovering. Although almost at death's door for a time, he is now out of all danger.

C. A. V. Putnam, the pioneer printer and newspaper man, who suffered a severe attack of something like general paralysis, is now rapidly recovering. The indications at present are that he will soon be all right again.

Everyone is familiar with the healthy properties of fruit, and no one can afford to be sick and miserable while the pleasant California concentrated liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, may be had of our enterprising druggists. Sold by Wm. F. Piniger, Reno.
